WHITE BUILDS NEW $20,000 EDIFICE

Sweet Shop Man Utilizes Old
Drug Store Site for 3-Story Structure.

IS NEARING COMPLETION

A handsome and impressive new structure at No. 222 Haverford avenue is J. P. White's contribution to Narberth's real estate development. It is costing $20,000, and will be three stories high.

There will be two stores on the ground floor, which Mr. White is understood to say he will not occupy, but will sublet upon their completion early in September. Four apartments will be ready for occupancy by the latter part of October, occupying the second and third floors of the building. These are to be rented at moderate terms.

John B. Alker and Charles C. White have contracted to make the new edifice "the prettiest building in Narberth," in accordance with Mr. White's avowed intention to make the new building one of which Narberth may be proud. Its prominent location in the centre of the town, in view of the railroad and station, has inspired Mr. White with an endeavor to help beautify the town, from an architectural standpoint.

The construction of the building will be of Indiana limestone around the entire first floor, and the upper two stories will be built of a red tapestry brick, at harmony with the stone work, and of symmetrical design. Some very clever and artistic piecing of the brick and stone is being done at the northwest corner of the walls, which has an odd, but graceful angle and design.

Many years ago, when Narberth was in its childhood, so to speak, the present site of White's project served as a drug store, operated by William F. J. Fiedler. Since that time many druggists have held forth, until finally C. H. Crane became established as an "old-timer" there.

And now that Crane's Pharmacy has been removed to its present handsome quarters, at the corner of Narberth and Haverford avenues, the old landmark has at last awakened to a sense of its decrepitude, with a new determination to present a more youthful and fair appearance to the world.

The other half of the old building is owned by Howard E. Davis, No. 224 Haverford avenue. It is the half now owned by White which is undergoing its transformation, and is being extended to the curb of the street circle extending to the station.

The building will be modern throughout in every detail. An interesting find was made, by the way, during the work of destroy-

POSTMASTER EXAMINATION

A competitive examination for Postmaster in Narberth is announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, to be held under a special Presidential order of May 10, 1921. The late date for receipt of applications is August 10. Competitors will not be required to report for examination at any place, but will be rated upon their education and training, business experience and fitness. Information may be obtained from the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, upon application for Forms 2241 and 2213.

Appointments will be ratified by Congress in December. Until then, J. Bertram Nesper is serving as Acting Postmaster, following the expiration, on July 21, of the four-year term of Fred. C. Patten.

SHOWS OREGON REAL TENNIS

William ("Billy") Mitchell, of North Narberth avenue, sprung a genuine surprise out West last week, when he defeated Dr. J. F. Hosch, last year's champion, in the first round match of the Central Oregon tennis tournament.

"Dope was upset," according to the Oregon News, in reporting the tally of 9-7, 4-6, 6-4, by which the Narberth player won.

$20,000 new building erected by John B. Alker for J. P. White, that will grace the centre of Narberth, on old drug store site.

ADMIRAL BENSON ADDRESSES LEGION

Tells About Raising S-51.
Connie Mack's 3d Baseman
Presents Ball

POST TO PLAY BALL

Admiral Benson, of the Navy, and Jimmie Dykes, of the Athletics, were the star speakers at Tuesday evening's meeting of the Harold D. Speakman Post, No. 356, Narberth branch of the American Legion.

The tragedy of the S-51 last fall, and its recent raising with its gallant dead, were the chief points of interest of the Admiral's talk. The Admiral gave an interesting account of the ill-fated submarine, in connection with an exposition of the activities and achievements of the American Navy. Admiral Benson was introduced to the Legionnaires by Commodore W. R. O'Sullivan.

Jimmie Dykes, star third baseman of the Athletics, was the second speaker of the evening. "The Athletics," he said, "are only a second-rate team, and too much is expected of them. When they win a string of victories and edge up toward first place in the pennant contest they are widely acclaimed. But when they go down to defeat they are derided unjustly."

UNCLE SAM KEEPS LOCAL BOYS BUSY

At Ft. Monroe C. M. T. Camp, Having Good Time, Though.

Several Narberth and Lower Merion boys are attending the coast artillery camp at Fort Monroe, Va., according to a letter sent to Our Town by Robert L. Dot-hard, of Narberth:

"The future officers in the O. R. C. have been receiving advanced instruction this past week. Work in artillery drill has advanced to such a stage that the boys are firing this week at targets several miles out in the water. A parade and review has been held almost nightly these past few days."

"Last Saturday morning the students went to Langley Flying Field to see an exhibition of stunt flying, maneuvering, target work, parachute jumping and formation flying. Thirty planes were in the air for the coast artillery students' amusement. In the afternoon a trip on the mine planter 'Schofield' took the boys to the Newport News shipyards, the largest in the world."

"On Wednesday another trip was enjoyed, this time to Virginia Beach, the Atlantic City of the South. The students were allowed to wear their 'civies.'"

"Charley Henry and Bob Dot-hard are passing tests for the A. R. L. Life Saving Corps. Ray Rudrauff has many girl friends, who know how to cook—and where to send their cooking. All of the Narberth boys have had 'kitchen police,' the world's worst job."

"From now on the boys will be more than busy finishing up their artillery work, hiking, maneuvering and handling in equipment."

"Almost the whole camp is planning to stop off at the Sesqui on its way home. Only one more week until one of the best months of the year for about a dozen of the Main Line's young student-soldiers comes to an end."

ALLIED ROTARIANS DEFEAT ARDMORE

Narberth and Cynwyd Win Heated Game, Also Dinners.

ALLEGED SCORE 30 TO 5

With the sun hitting 98 in the shade and the Narberth-Bala-Cynwyd Rotarians hitting 1,000 in the sun, the Ardmore Rotary Club lost a baseball game to the joint forces at the Brookline Square Club last Thursday afternoon. The Ardmore brethren also lost the price of nearly two score dinners, for previous agreement had it that the loser of the game was to pay for dinner.

The game lasted for four and a half innings. Records were broken everywhere and the most amazing things were done in the scoring of runs. In spite of the huge total for the victors there was a scarcity of extra base hits. There was not one home run, and few doubles.

Squire Fred Walzer, of Narberth, strode to the mound for the local nine. He demonstrated that he had learned a trick or two as past manager for a number of teams.

The favorite pastime of the Ardmore stickmen was to wave often and vigorously to Dick Staley in centerfield and then to retire to their bench where they

FIREMEN TIE ARDMORE STARS

In a stubbornly contested game that ended 9-9 when darkness interrupted the ninth inning, the Narberth Fire Company baseball team defeated the Ardmore Stars Wednesday evening. That is, they did not lose the game. Therefore, they must have won it.

Pitching of Fred Walzer, homer by Harvey J. Cook, fielding by George Babb, all contributed to win the game—or would have won the game if darkness hadn't closed in on the tie.

Next Wednesday evening's game will also be played on the community field between the firemen and the Merion Square "K. K. K." nine.

PRESTON-NARBERTH TODAY

Narberth and Preston will dispute their tie for first place in the Main Line Baseball League this afternoon. Jefferies' nine, last year's champions, have steadily climbed toward leadership of the league this season, and ball fans who watch today's game to be played at Preston, will witness a rare combat.

Longfellow Was a Resident at Rosemont During Centennial

So much was happening in the Centennial year of 1876 that Montgomery county hardly took cognizance of the fact that the poet Longfellow was living in this county for one week that year. Yet that visit suggested to him one of his often quoted poems, which was also one of his last productions.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow came to Philadelphia to see the Centennial, soon after its opening, in May, 1876. For one week he was the guest of George W. Childs, in Philadelphia. Then he spent another week at Rosemont, in Lower Merion township.

There is not much of Rosemont

DOWN AUTOCAR 16-10

Narberth's 16 to 10 victory over Autocar on Saturday places Jefferies' nine at the head of the Main Line Baseball League, tied for first place with Preston.

Saturday's game was an exciting one, delighting the spectators at the community grounds. The visiting warriors had the local boys beat 6 to 5 at the end of the third inning; but commencing with the fourth the Narberth lads walloped the ball so hard that the foe soon went down to defeat.

Four runs were piled up by Jefferies' last-year champions in the fourth inning. These, with seven more clouted out in the seventh, turned the invaders' attack into a smashing defeat.

George Fleck starred for the local nine, with his all-around good playing and his batting. A homer and a double-bagger were chalked up to the credit of his hitting prowess. Culinan, genial Ardmore right fielder, was the outstanding figure in the opposition's offense.

In addition to Fleck's hits, Townsend was credited with two double-baggers and a triple, Jefferies with a double, Davis with a double and a triple, and Key with a triple. For Autocar, J. Sinclair and Burns scored doubles, and Kane got away with a homer.

TWILIGHT GAMES

Commence in Narberth—To Continue During August.

An interesting schedule of games has been arranged for the Narberth nine by its business manager, Harry Hollar. Games will be played in evenings in addition to the regular Saturday afternoon M. L. League games. The games listed so far are as follows:

August 2—Newton Coal team, at Forty-eighth and Walnut streets.

August 3—West Manayunk, at Narberth.

August 5—Roxborough Professionals, at Narberth.

August 10—Indiana Professionals, at Narberth.

August 12—Progress, at Narberth.

August 17—Dunkirk, at Narberth.

August 19—McCoach stars, a fast colored club, at Narberth.

Narberth is fortunate in having all but the first game played at the home grounds on the Community Field. The series will be financed by those who are generous enough to contribute when the hat is passed around at the games.

FIREMEN-LEGION GAME MONDAY

Monday night at 6 o'clock will see the first of a series of three games between the Narberth firemen's team and the American Legion's nine.

The Legion-Firemen series commencing the end of August, as announced elsewhere in these columns, is being advanced to the first part of August instead. The second game is scheduled for Wednesday, the 11th, and the third for Wednesday, the 18th of August.

Bill Durbin will twirl for the Legion boys at Monday's contest, which is a benefit game. In addition to witnessing an all-star combat, ball fans will be treated to some good music, it is announced.

TEACH ARITHMETIC AS AID TO SPORTS

Says Narberth U. of P. Prof.
Teaching U. of California
Summer Session

EASY, INTERESTING

Novel up-to-date views on education are enlivening the summer session of the University of California, at Berkeley, where Dr. Le Roy A. King, of 315 Grayling avenue, Narberth, is holding forth for the summer.

Dr. King is Assistant Professor of Education and Director of the Bureau of Educational Measurements in the University of Pennsylvania. He is giving courses in elementary education in the summer session of the Western university.

As reported by the Berkeley papers, a new textbook in arithmetic submitted to the California State Board of Education substitutes questions dealing with radio, batting averages, and other questions of current interest to youngsters for the old-time problems of the price of apples or the wages of men digging a trench. This book apparently is on the right track in the opinion of Dr. Le Roy A. King.

Such snappy questions as the high cost of a new radio set, the

LOCAL BOYS AT CAMP MEADE

Learning to Be Soldiers.

Edwin A. Wolfe, of Elm Terrace, writes:

"We arrived at Camp Meade Thursday afternoon and went through a strict physical examination. Friday and Saturday the camp was organized and twelve companies organized. The officers are competent and friendly. Monday rifles were issued and drill started. Target practice starts Monday, the 26th."

"We have been given a course of educational lectures and demonstrations by prominent speakers, including delegates from the National Red Cross, Forest Service, and Major Jackson, of Baltimore. The boys have had the chance to hike two trips. The first trip was to Washington, Arlington and Mount Vernon. The second was to Annapolis."

"The hottest thing here is the heat, 110 degrees in the shade and no shade. The swimming pool is overcrowded but very much appreciated. Our meals are wholesome and satisfying but I would rather eat at home."

"We sleep in tents, six boys to a tent. We have had a fine time and many expect to return next year."

EDWIN O. WOLFE.

DID 41 IN TRUCK

There are motorists who doubt that Ford one-ton trucks can "do" 40 miles an hour, but Gordon Rouffin, colored, of Bryn Mawr, convinced all skeptics in the vicinity of Montgomery Pike, Narberth, Monday, that they can hump along when urged sufficiently. His speed attracted the attention of a policeman who claimed Rouffin was going 41 miles an hour when the law caught up to him. Given a hearing before Magistrate Kromer in the Ardmore police station, the boy was assessed $14 for speeding and reckless driving.

MANY PLAYERS AT CLAY COURT MEET

Narberth Tennis Club Holds
State Championships in Singles and Doubles.

LOCAL MEN FIGURE

Considerable interest has been aroused in tennis circles throughout the East in the third annual Pennsylvania clay court championships now in progress on the splendid courts of the Narberth Tennis Club. Many famous players have been contesting since last Saturday for the A. D. W. Smith "Narberth Cup."

The cup was won last year by Carl Fischer, and in 1924 by Samuel Gilpin, who has staged a strong comeback this year. In order to retain possession of the trophy, the winner must annex three annual championships in singles play, not necessarily in succession.

Play in singles commenced last Saturday, and in doubles on Tuesday. A dinner was given in honor of participants in the tournament on Monday. Rain prevented play Thursday, and when Our Town went to press on Friday there was likelihood of further postponement.

Due to the efforts of W. D. R. Evans, of Price avenue, who is chairman of the Tournament Committee, capable umpires were engaged to watch each match from beginning to end. And Paul W. Gibbons, president of the Middle States Tennis Association, agreed to act as official referee.

Mr. Evans' work in putting across the State clay court championships has aided the Narberth Tennis Club to become the healthy organization that it is today. The other active committee members are Walter Cowin, A. T. Gragan, C. B. Metzger and H. C. Frenno. The tournament is being held under the auspices of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Sam Gilpin, of the Merion Cricket Club, advanced to the

MERION BOY STARS AS TUNA FISHERMAN

Henry S. Drinker, 3d, 12
Years Old, Lands 10 Off Beach Haven.

DAD GETS 'EM WITH ROD

To get most fun out of tuna fishing—take it from Henry S. Drinker, Jr., of Merion—it is wise to use rod and line. When one trolls for the big fellows with a handline, pulling them in hand over hand instead of playing them and reeling them in, he's either a commercial fisherman, with his eye on the market or in the same class with Henry S. Drinker, 3d, 12-year-old son of Henry S. Drinker, Jr.

The youngster only weighs 85 pounds, and that's why he can't cope with a tuna when using a rod. None the less, he ranks with the best tunny anglers putting out of Beach Haven, N. J.

A week ago last Sunday he came home from the banks with ten of these fish, averaging 35 pounds, which he caught in four hours, without losing a strike. He went out with his father and his uncle, Dr. Cecil K. Drinker, and the total catch was 23 tuna and one large bonito.

Fish Off Barnegat.

The banks off Beach Haven are the best tuna grounds between Nova Scotia and the Florida Keys on this side of the United States. Santa Catalina Island, off California, is the most renowned on the Pacific side.

From Beach Haven the power boats make a two-hour run to the banks, where there is a ridge called Barnegat, elliptical in shape five miles long and about 30 feet shallower than the surrounding ocean bed. This ridge is covered with pencil-like sand eels, on which the tuna feed. To give their bait the semblance of these sand eels, the elder Drinkers use

INTERESTS COAST

speed of various automobiles, or how far Babe Ruth can hit a ball, it is believed by the publishers will hold more interest for the modern youngster than any of the senseless doings of X or Y. Professor King, when asked his opinion, said that the introduction of such material is a modern tendency recognizing interest value as well as content and procedure value. "From the standpoint of interest the introduction of practical value is sound."

"The danger in the modern school is that the pendulum frequently swings too far, and some of the fundamental knowledge values are almost neglected. So long as a text book contains the fundamental principles of the subject it should be further guided by the so-called newer objectives.
Basic Activities Recognized.

"The modern course of study recognizes the basic life activities:
physical, social, civic, industrial, recreational, and religious. The whole text book movement is going through a serious transformation in adapting content to newer values of education which recognize individual differences in children as well as prepare the individual to fit into society."

"The value of education is measured not only in terms of knowledge, but in terms of skills, habits, and ideals, and the text book must recognize these larger values. Education is emphasizing certain fundamental habits such as inquiry, persistence, reference and self-reliance."

"If a boy," said Professor King,
"will learn percentage by working out the standing of league baseball players why under the heavens have him figure on the types of problems that children have been obliged to work out until now, even the language of which they often did not understand"

ADMIRAL AND BALL PLAYER

"After all," he maintained, "you must admit that for a second-rate team we are a mighty good one.
We do the best we can, even though the hot weather knocks some of our best players at times.
Give Connie Mack a chance to get a few more good players, and we'll show you real baseball that is consistent."

Legion Gets Ball.

A baseball autographed by Connie Mack was presented to the Legion by Dykes, at the conclusion of the Mackman's speech.
This served as an inspiration for the Legion to organize a ball team of its own.

Harry Simpson has been made manager of the new Legion team, with Tom Knutzen acting as captain. A series of three games will be played with the fire company team, commencing Tuesday evening, August 31.

The local Post also plans a series of bridge parties and dances, to be announced more definitely in the fall.

Two boxing matches were another feature of Tuesday's eventful Legion meeting. Commander Shubert outpointed Danny Krea-mer in a fast four-round bout, and Art Cook gained a decision over Battling Smith from the neighborhood Post.

quarter-finals by extending himself to master Herman Dornheim, of Belfield, in the fourth round,
4-6, 6-3, and 6-4, on Wednesday.
Von Maur, of the Cynwyd Tennis Club, toppled Neil J. Sullivan, Lehigh University, in one of the biggest upsets of the year, in Tuesday's play of the fourth round.

Another upset occurred on Tuesday when Lyman Tremain, of Idle Hour, eliminated Harold Lane, No. 1 of the Narberth team, in the third round, 6-3, 6-3. Wells
Wanamaker, former Lower Merion
High School tennis star, made a good showing for the Narberth team. He defeated J. R. Murphy, of the Germantown Cricket Club,
6-0, 6-4, on Saturday. In Monday's play he beat G. McFadden, of Wynfield Tennis Club, 6-3, 6-4.

Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, fresh from his Delaware State clay court victories, had a close battle with Bob Fretz, of the home team, and another one with Al Burtis, of Belfield, each of whom extended the star to three sets in the play on Monday. The score for Mercur and Fretz was 7-5, 4-6, 6-1, and for Mercur and Bur-tis, 6-1, 5-7, 6-0. Arthur L. Reed gave Mercur another tough battle on Tuesday.
In the doubles Wells Wanamaker and J. Custer, Narberth, defeated Dr. J. F. Strawinski and J. F. Strawinski, Jr., and then went down in defeat in the second round before Harold Lane, Nar-berth, and Joe Olhausen, Cynwyd.

waved in a vain endeavor to coax into existence a more comforting breeze. Walzer retired 10 Ardmore batters via this strike out route.

Toward the end of the fray, Walzer eased up and began to tease his opponents. Several runs resulted, but the Squire tightened up when a Penn uniform appeared at the plate in the guise of a pinch hitter. A strike out ended the game.

A two-bagger by George Smith and Doc Crowthers' fancy balancing of a hit ball on his chest were among the many features of the game. The "razzberry" was passed frequently and impartially with few escaping a thrust.

"The score card shows that Chid is talented in other ways than singing—that Bill Decker can do other things than fish—Doc Staley can handle the big pill as well as little ones—that Con demonstrated brotherly love by driving a hot one right at John's Shinns and that all Bala runs were not recorded on account of our inability to get an adding machine in time."

"All together it was one fine game," concluded Skipper Shull.

Former Postmaster Al Reinhold, of Ardmore, called the strikes behind the plate while George M. Painter, of Bala, ruled the bases with the hand of Mussolini.

THE JULY BOOK LIST

This is the season of the year when few new books are being issued. The "summer reading" was published in the late spring, and autumn books are not yet out. This is the very real reason for the small number of books on the July Community Library list.

Still, the boys will be delighted when they see that among the new books is "David Goes Voyaging," by David B. Putnam. This lucky twelve-year-old boy was on the "Arcturus," with William Beebe, when the voyage to the Sargasso Sea and the Pacific was made, and he tells his own story of that three months' trip. Mr. Beebe's story of the same adventure was added to the Library several months ago.

Another story for the juniors is "Silent Scot," by C. L. Skinner. The boy's name was "Andy Mac Phail," but they called him "Silent Scot." He could trail big game and war-like Indians, too, through the forest.

Another book called "Suppose We Play" is for the use of children for their parties and is especially recommended to the parents. Here will be found singing games, outdoor games, indoor and party games.

For the senior department there is "Black Hunter," by James Oliver Curwood, a romance of old Quebec in the days of flashing rapiers and stealthy tomahawks. "Exquisite Perdita," by E. Barrington. Romantic story of a dazzling beauty in the days of George the Third.

"My Antonia," by Willa Cather. A new edition of this popular book.

"Silver Forest," by Ben Ames Williams. Mystery story with a setting in a lodge in the Maine woods.

WHITE BUILDING

ing the old building. In excavating the chimney it was found that joists projected into it. It is well-nigh a miracle that these wooden beams did not catch fire in the intense heat of the chimney at some time during the varied occupancy of the building.

Whites Have Prospered.

It was six years ago that J. P. White moved into Narberth, purchasing the bakery on No. 219 Haverford avenue, which has since been known as White's Sweet Shop. There he and Mrs. White have built up a business which has become popular among all who love sweets. In 1921 the Whites erected a $10,000 two-story brick bakery alongside the railroad, just in back of the new building now being constructed. In this bake-shop are fashioned all the candies, cakes and pies for which the "Sweet Shop" has become noted.

Following the purchases of the site of the new building, work was begun the last week in June, and now is nearing completion. The stores will be completed in September and the apartments are expected to be ready for occupancy by the latter part of October. Mr. White has announced that he will not occupy the stores, but will continue business at 219 Haverford avenue, and rent out the stores for business purposes.

Alker Is Designer and Builder.

The designer and builder of the new building is John B. Alker, who served his apprenticeship with the Harlin and Hollingsworth Company, now the Schwab plant, in Wilmington, Del. Later he went into business for himself, in addition to accepting a position as instructor in mechanics in the Philadelphia high schools for the past 34 years. Mr. Alker is a well-known resident of Narberth, at Hampden and Haverford avenues.

Associated with Mr. Alker, in charge of the brick and stone work, is Mr. Charles C. White, who has been a colleague of Mr. Alker's in school work, also.

John A. Miller has the roofing contract, and the plumbing and heating work is being done by the Narberth Plumbing and Heating Company. Woodwork on the new structure is being cared for by C. S. Williams.

Wayne D. Burnside, able assistant at the postoffice, has returned from a motor trip to Denver, Colo. He reports good roads and a good vacation.

WHEN LONGFELLOW WAS A RESIDENT AT ROSEMONT

house on the Montgomery county side suggests the architecture of the period following the civil war. On this latter structure a sign reads, "Longfellow Apartments." Thus is commemorated the visit of the poet to Montgomery county a half century ago.

In the front wall of this house, under the eaves, are two date stones. The first reads: "William J. Thomas, May 22, 1800." The other bears the following: "Rebuilt by C. J. Arthur, May, 1873."

C. J. Arthur long owned both of the houses. In the seventies and eighties he conducted a summer boarding house in this dwelling on the Montgomery county side—not a resort, or an inn, or a hotel, but just a boarding house.

So when Longfellow wanted to spend a week in a pleasant part of the rural region bordering Philadelphia, he came here to Arthur's boarding house.

Now after 50 years, when all of Longfellow's doings and sayings are matters of interest, it would indeed be gratifying to know just how the poet spent his time during the week he lived at Rosemont. But the details have been forgotten—all but one. That was his visit to old St. David's Church, in Radnor township, Delaware county.

That drive to St. David's was the event of the week. It made a deep impression upon Longfellow. He often talked about it, dwelling upon the "charming and picturesque surroundings" of the quaint little church built early in the eighteenth century and the nearby tomb of General Anthony Wayne. His recollections led him several years later to write the poem entitled "Old St. David's at Radnor."

MERION BOY, 12 YEARS OLD, STARS AS TUNA FISHERMAN

pieces of lamp wick for bait. These they trail at the ends of their lines in the water, cruising about in their boat.

Is Tug-of-War.

When a tuna strikes, or takes the hook, it swims away at great speed, and takes several hundred feet from the reel. This preliminary dash is followed by sprints in all directions, until the angler having done enough playing—reeling and unreeling his line—brings it up to the boat, where it is landed with a gaff-hook.

Henry S. Drinker, 3d, employs different methods, necessitated by his equipment. He has no reel and uses a much thicker line than his father, so there is less scope for playing the tuna. It is to pull it in hand over hand as quickly as possible, and to do this he utilizes the side of the boat for leverage. It is almost a tug-of-war, with the youngster the eventual winner.

Most of the tunas caught nowadays at Barnegat Ridge average 35 pounds, but later in the year they run to much larger sizes. Several years ago a 1400-pound tuna was taken from these waters.

Tuna fishing is one of the high-ranking sports among the anglers, rivaled only by the big game sought in the Florida, West Coast and foreign waters.

ASK FORMAL COMPLAINT

For Protests Against National Freight Delivery Company.

Philadelphia concern which objected to the hauling of materials in Philadelphia by the National Freight Delivery Company were told Monday by the Public Service Commission in Harrisburg that they would have to file a proper complaint before that body would act on the matter.

The commission declined to act on the request previously made to the examiner, sitting in Philadelphia, for an order of restraint on the company, pending issuance of a certificate of convenience.

The National Freight Company is headed by W. W. Light, of Cynwyd, as president.

IDEAL FLOOR

The ideal kitchen floor is durable, comfortable to walk and stand on, smooth but not slippery, easy to clean, not injured by grease and water, and attractive in color and appearance. The wooden floor finished with oil or paint or covered with a good quality of plain or inlaid linoleum meets many of these points.
